

Thank you for considering The Write Brained Teacher for your book review needs. We are interested in reviewing titles for elementary aged students and professional resource books related to literacy instruction, classroom management, or other topics relevant to elementary educators.

Please be aware that you are submitting a book for consideration and that acceptance of a review copy is not a promise to review. Only favorable reviews will be featured on the blog.

With 2-3 months notice, reviews can be scheduled on or near a book's publication date. Books received after their publication dates will usually be reviewed within 3 months of receipt (if they are selected for review). As our schedule allows, we also feature author interviews and guest posts, giveaways, and other creative content that gives our readers a unique look at a book, author, or other aspects of literacy education.

Currently we are accepting hardback, paperback and audio-books. At this time, The Write Brained Teacher does not review PDFs, e-books, or self-published books for review.

For questions regarding reviews or recommendations, please feel free to contact Karren Colbert via email at karren_colbert [at] comcast [dot] net or use the Contact Us page and expect a response within 24 to 72 hours. If you are promoting a book, please include the title, author, a synopsis, and a link to the publisher and/or author website.
